The Greatest Virtues

of a pianoforte, according to Emanuel Seb. Bach, are tone-sustaining power and a tone that sings. The great cantor deplored the fact, that the pianos of his time were deficient in this, and his constant endeavor was to overcome this deficiency by his technique; that is, to play the pianoforte as much as possible in a singing manner, and to compose for it accordingly.

"Tone-sustaining power and a tone that sings" are the particular characteristics of the Baldwin Piano, which have endeared the same to the hearts of the greatest living musicians of the world.
